ENTERPRISE IN ACTION

The Newsletter of

www.socialenterprise.net Spring, 2004

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

As you requested our newsletter, Social Enterprise Associates welcomes you to this edition:

- Client and Project Highlights
- New Papers and Research
- Best Industry Stuff We've Come Across

CLIENT AND PROJECT HIGHLIGHTS

- Grameen Foundation USA (www.gfusa.org): With GF-USA, our deepest relationship, we lead the High Growth Partner Project for the Grameen Bank Replication Program. It is the cornerstone of GF-USA's Strategic Plan for 2004-2008 to assist microfinance institutions in offering affordable financial services to 5 million new poor clients. Drew Tulchin presented at the Dhaka, Bangladesh, Microcredit Summit conference and met with program partners there.
- The Mix Market (www.themix.org): We orchestrated and presented at two panels at the annual SEEP Meeting on Social Return last fall, and co-wrote a SEEP Focus Note for practitioners on social return (final coming soon from SEEP, draft available at www.socialenterprise.net/resources.html).
- The Columbia University MBA Program: Our commitment to develop professionals in this field led us to broker 3 MBA teams to help microfinance emerging projects. Stay tuned for impact stories. For other partnerships & internship opportunities, see www.socialenterprise.net/work with us.html.

NEW PAPERS AND RESEARCH

We have a number of documents to share. Visit 'Resources', at www.socialenterprise.net/resources.html, to download works in English and Spanish.

- Microfinance & the Double Bottom Line, Measuring Social Return for the Microfinance Industry & Microcredit with Education Programs: received the 2nd place award at Brigham Young University's Call for Papers at the 7th Annual MicroEnterprise Conference. www.microenterprise.byu.edu/schedule2004.cfm
- Social Enterprise Associates Working Paper Series. Five works on emerging topics in microfinance are available, all written by young professionals in the field.

BEST INDUSTRY STUFF WE'VE COME ACROSS

Here are some noteworthy items we hope you'll appreciate:

- Social Performance Indicators Index (SPI): New microfinance measurement effort by CERISE, funded by Argidius Foundation and CGAP (www.cerise-microfinance.org/publication/impact.htm#report)
- Blended Value Proposition: Latest tome by the prodigious Jed Emerson. Well hyped, but everyone is reading it; don't be left out (www.blendedvalue.org)
- Banking the Poor. The Brookings Institute study on financial condition of US poor & societal impacts. (www.brook.edu/es/urban/publications/20030715 barr.htm)

Social Enterprise Associates is a US for-profit consulting company applying business principles to achieve community good. We provide affordable, results-oriented client services. We are always interested in updates from our colleagues and community stakeholders; email us at info@socialenterprise.net.

Special thanks to recent important contributors to Social Enterprise Associates: Romi Bhatia, Matias Bianchi, Nandini Pandhi, and Diana Yousef-Martinek.

Best hopes for Summer, 2004. Everyone is encouraged to give to their favorite US presidential candidate - democracy in action.

Regards, Drew Tulchin Social Enterprise Associates www.socialenterprise.net
